ARABS IN AFRICA.

They Murder Scores of Christians in Uganda.

The Country Proclaimed a Mahomedan Kingdom—Mwanga Deported—His Brother-Letter from Stanley and Emin Deported.

ZANZIBAR, Jan. 11.—Advice has been received from the interior that in October last Mwanga, King of Uganda, plotted to destroy his entire body guard, his intention being to abandon them on an island in Lake Nyansa, where they would starve to death. The guards, who had been forewarned of the King's intention, refused to enter the canoe which was to convey them to the island, but returned to the capital and attacked Mwanga's palace. The King fled to escape the fury of the guards, and his brother, Kiwewa, was enthroned in his stead. Kiwewa appointed Christians to the principal offices. This enraged the Arabs, who murdered many of the Christians and replaced them with Mohammedans. The Arabs burned the English and French mission stations and killed many of the converts to Christianity. The mission stations were destroyed by the burning of the mission stations. SCARED BY A SPOOK.

Exodus of Cetered People from Lawrence County, Ala., Caused by the Alleged Appearance of the Ghost of a Man They Had Lynched.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 11.—Near Moulton, Lawrence County, last July, Calvin Moody, colored, murdered his wife, and three days afterward was taken from the county jail and hanged by colored men. Recently there has been a great exodus of negroes from Lawrence County, the cause of which has just been learned. A special from Moulton says the colored people claim that the ghost of the man who was hanged is seen at the cabin every night, and that there is a curse on all who had a hand in the lynching last summer. Colored men who were supposed to have taken part in the lynching of Moody were the first to leave. The terror among the negroes is general, and they are leaving this section in numbers. They will not listen to reason, firmly believing that the ghost of the late Calvin Moody is on their trail.

Two Unknown Men Killed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 11.—The Kanawha and Ohio train going north yesterday afternoon struck and instantly killed two men on the tracks near the Poor Farm. One was white and the other a colored man, both inmates of the Poor Farm, who were being taken to the workhouse. The white man was killed by a bullet in the head, and the colored man was killed by a bullet in the chest. The bodies were found lying on the tracks, and the train stopped for some time before it could proceed.

LION MEETS HIS MATCH.

He Tackles the Elephant, Express, Who Stings Him Across the Snout and Quells Him—He Slings Him a Camel, However, Before He Starts After the Bigger Game.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 13.—A battle between a lion and an elephant alarmed the people of Philadelphia, but for the speedy victory of the huge beast is feared that disastrous consequences would have resulted. The fight occurred in Longwood's barn, where a number of wild animals that travel with O'Brien's circus are being watered by John Cather. On Saturday the lion broke the back of the elephant's cage, and soon had his freedom. Having been kept on short rations, the king of beasts started in to have a royal feast, and a meek-eyed camel was selected for the principal dish. With one bound the lion was on the camel's back, and his claws sank deep into the neck of the beast. The camel's ears were in the neck of the lion, and the lion was sucking at its blood. The keeper conceived the idea of turning the vicious elephant upon the lion. The elephant was undismayed at the growls of the lion. She had witnessed too many such scenes, and she had killed five keepers since she had been in captivity, and seemed anxious to add to her list. The lion rose as the elephant approached, but was not quick enough to get out of the way, for with one powerful blow from her trunk the elephant hurled the king of beasts against the stable wall. The lion fell to the ground, and the elephant stepped over him. The lion was wild with rage. He leaped upon her hind quarters, and the elephant trumpeted with rage and pain as she felt the lion's claws scratching her thick skin, but odds were against the king of beasts, for he was quickly routed from his position at the point of a pitchfork by the keeper. The elephant returned just in time to catch her antagonist on her trunk. She held him high in the air for a moment, and then hurled him clear across the stable. The lion was evidently severely hurt, for he kept so still that the men had little trouble in lessening and leading him to the slaughter. TO LOOK FOR STANLEY.

The New York World Will Send Thomas A. Stevens on the Mission.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The World has made arrangements for an exploring expedition into Central Africa to obtain authentic news of Stanley and Emin Pasha. It will be led by Thomas A. Stevens, who made himself famous by his tour around the globe on a bicycle, and who is now on his way to Zanzibar, whence the expedition will start. In case the two explorers shall have returned to civilized regions before Mr. Stevens reaches Wadai, he will devote himself to an investigation of the African slave trade, against which Cardinal Lavigerie, primate of Africa, is conducting a crusade.

A Finnish Murder.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 12.—The unknown man who committed the fiendish murder and outrage at Pratt Mines has not yet been arrested, although the county is now in jail for an offense. Blackford discharged him, and he had returned and knocked Blackford down. He then hid himself in a hole in the wall, and behind a fence fired at Blackford, but did not hit him. Blackford discharged his shotgun and the negro dropped, badly wounded.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

CHRISTIAN SCHARRP, a German baker of Louisville, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Ill health and worry over business had unbalanced his mind.

SEVERAL prominent farmers of Mason County will lose in the aggregate about twelve thousand bushels of wheat by the failure of the Kester Milling Company of Covington.

RICHARD GARY, of Hopkinsville, committed suicide, shooting himself six times. It is estimated that an unlucky deal in "futures" had something to do with it.

A VICTORY won on the Southern, near Williams, delayed passenger trains at Nicholasville eight hours. Fifteen cars were wrecked.

The remains of Robert Prother Gilbert arrived at Louisville, the other morning. He is the son of Colonel Gilbert of the United States Army, and the grandson of John H. Hays, of Louisville.

He died on January 11 under peculiar circumstances. He had been sick at Ann Arbor, Mich., and his parents were taking him home. While on the way to Chicago he laid his head on his mother's arm and both went to sleep. When she awoke the boy's head had fallen on her bosom and he was dead.

A WOMAN was struck by an engine at Covington and instantly killed.

TWO MEN, supposed to be tramps, went to the house of Joseph Glass, keeper of the first toll-gate on the Newburg road, near Louisville, and, taking what money and valuables they could lay their hands on, seriously beat Mrs. Glass, who attempted to prevent their depredations.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

A Sweep Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction—Four Men Cremated at Reading, Pa.—in the Same City an Immense Silk Mill in Howes Lane Destroyed 200 People to the Ruin—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Best Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Sawmill Buildings at Pittsburgh—Loss of Life at Sunbury—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Indiana and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city yesterday afternoon and laid waste every thing within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m. When the sun showed for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The doocy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm in the east. A heavy rain was soon approaching with a thundering noise. Persons residing along the track of the storm say that they saw the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up every thing within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses and barns were overthrown, crops rooted up and the stock scattered in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 200 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of Reading. The storm was a cyclone, and it was a cyclone.

First it touched the Mount Penn stove works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was blown off. The wind was so strong that it blew the roof off the building. The wind was so strong that it blew the roof off the building.

A number of dwellings were annihilated as if by magic. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad. A passenger car was overturned and a number of persons were killed.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck squarely in the middle, and the bricks scattered about as if they were flying.

The cars were hurled in every direction, while the men were hurled in every direction. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the passenger cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be taken out of the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses, thinking that it was the sound of an earthquake. There was a considerable quantity of gasoline in the building, and this added fuel to the flames. A sheet of flame shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had a chance to crawl out of the

THURSDAY, JANUARY 17th, 1889.

Next Tuesday has been fixed as the day upon which the vote shall be taken on the Senate tariff bill.

The Presidential electors met in the various states last Monday and cast their ballots for President of the United States.

Senator Harris is still in the lead for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator in Tennessee, and will probably be nominated.

Mrs. Jay Gould died in New York Friday night. She loaned her husband the money on which he began his successful business career.

The slander suit of Miss Irene Cowden against John W. Langley, of Floyd county, on trial at Frankfort, resulted in a hung jury Saturday.

James G. Blaine Jr., has astonished Maine society by asking for a job as machinist's cub in the Maine Central locomotive car works at Waterville.

Proposed suits by the State against the Trustee of the Jury Fund and other officers for interest on the money handled by them are exciting comment.

Gov. Fleming, of Florida, was inaugurated Tuesday. One feature of the ceremonies was a column of Union and Confederate veterans marching side by side.

George Osgoodby, of California, says he is the author of Mr. Murchison's letter, over which such an ado was made in the recent campaign. He also states, as was already well known, that it was gotten up as a trap.

Col. Robertson the Republican who was so decidedly "sat down upon" by the Indiana Legislature last winter is again receiving cool treatment at the hands of that body. He is not permitted to enter the Senate Chamber.

Andrew Ferguson, an old colored man of Louisville has donated to the Presbytery of Louisville property valued at $10,000. It was his all, and had been accumulated through a life time of toil. He is seventy years of age, and the gift leaves him dependent upon his exertions for the means of subsistence.

The financial affairs of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, are said to be in a critical condition. The receipts for the past year were $20,000, while the expenses exceeded that sum about $2,000. At one period in the history of Plymouth, during the life of Henry Ward Beecher, the receipts from the annual sale of pews alone amounted to $68,000.

A delegation from the National Wool-growers' Association appeared before the Senate Committee on Finance, and, drawing a ready-made wool tariff schedule from their pockets, demanded that it be accepted by Congress. Of course it was rejected. The committee understood that the National Wool-growers' Association, having bought and paid for the Republican party, intend to exact full value received. Courier-Journal.

In the West Virginia contest of Fleming, Democratic candidate for Governor, against Judge Guthrie, of the Circuit Court, and Goff, Republican candidate for Governor, the Court Saturday decided that the plaintiff can not enjoy the Secretary of State from laying the returns before the Speaker of the House of Delegates, nor can he be compelled by mandamus to transmit such returns. The court, therefore, declined to issue the writ asked for. The Democrats express themselves as satisfied with this ruling, while the Republicans claim that it is a great victory. The matter now goes into the hands of the Legislature, which will decide on whether Fleming or Goff shall be Governor. They still refuse to permit the organization of the Senate.

John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain have signed articles of agreement to fight a prize-fight near New Orleans on July 8th.

Postmaster-General Dickinson said to an Associated Press reporter that within the last few weeks he received the resignations of a considerable number of Presidential and fourth class Postmasters, with the request that Republicans whom they name and recommend be appointed in their places. Others have written asking whether their resignations and recommendations of Republican successors would receive favorable action. In reply to an inquiry as to his action in these cases the Postmaster-General said that no resignations had been or would be accepted that are made for the purpose of forestalling the action of the incoming administration by the appointment of Republicans.—Ex.

Chas. Dudley Warner has embodied the results of his recent visit to this State in an article in the December Harper, entitled "Comments on Kentucky." Mr. Warner's paper treats first of all the Bluegrass region, of which he seems enthusiastically fond. "So far as I know," says he, "there is nothing like it in the world." He traces the connection between the limestone and bluegrasses, between "bluegrasses and Presbyterianism." "And," he adds, "I am almost prepared to go further and think that bluegrass is a specific for physical beauty and a certain graciousness of life." After a few paragraphs about the colonists' settlements in Kentucky, and an account of a visit to the Swiss town in Laurel county, Mr. Warner devotes the greater part of his article to a description of the mountain region of the East. He is greatly impressed with the mineral wealth of this section, and tells of the great activity displayed by railroads and capitalists to develop this promising country. He evidently has a good deal of faith in the outcome, and closes his paper with the sentence: "Taking it altogether—variety of resources, excellence of climate, vigor of its people—one can not escape the impression that Kentucky has a great future."—Covington Commonwealth.

When the eyes become weak or the lids inflamed and sore, a disordered system or a scrofulous condition of the blood is indicated, for which Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best remedy. It invigorates and vitalizes the blood and expels all humors.

Anderson Parker found in an old Indian burying ground near Farmdale, a silver medal about two inches in diameter, with a bar half an inch wide and about one and a half inches long attached to it by links. On the bar was engraved the word "Bart", and across the face were the words, "Dieu et Mon Droit, and immediately under it A. D. 1500." On the reverse side was the following inscription: Captured by Indians. To who ever find this medal I give my title and estate, described upon the stone with it." The next day Mr. Parker returned to the spot and made diligent search for the stone, but none of those found bore any marks upon them.—Frankfort Roundabout.

As a result of Sam Jones meeting at Greenville, Miss., there have been 500 additions to the various churches.

Good jockeys are in demand and scarce. Isaac Murphy, Jimmy McLaughlin, W. Hayward, Garrison, Fitzpatrick and others are getting rich. Isaac Murphy is reported to be worth $200,000 and the New York World says he was owned by Mrs. L. P. Hartlett, of Fleetwood Stock Farm, and that he now goes there to exercise the racers. He is able to buy any farm in this county, and gets $10,000 a year for riding for Lucky Baldwin, of California. Isaac was taught to ride by old Eli, and left this county to go where there was more money for skill in riding. Murphy at one time rode for Jim Williams, and Eli Jordan was his trainer. Eli Jordan, when he left Williams, took Murphy with him to the Fleetwood Stock Farm, where he was employed to ride for $300 a year.—Frankfort Argus.

For all malarial fevers and diseases caused by material poisons, Electric Bitters cannot be too highly recommended. A dose cures Headache and Constipation. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50c and $1 at W. T. Evans' Drug Store.

The Race War Begun in Kentucky.

The Jan. 4th issue of the Richmond (Ky.) Register says: The not unexpected has happened, and the race war has broken out at Berea College in this county. Everybody who reads knows that Berea College was established on the false principle that "Of one blood are all nations of the earth." In other words it has attempted in a Southern State to run an institution where the idea that "a negro is as good as a white man" was predominant. A large endowment fund for the support of this school has been furnished by well-meaning individuals of the North, and for years it has been reasonably prosperous. The two races—white and black—have been about equally distributed among the classes. Year by year, however, the colored element has increased, until this year it has reached the ascendancy, and the not unexpected result has come to pass. At Berea College, it should be remembered, whites and blacks recite in the same class, room in the same building and eat at the same table. A short time since some of the white students rebelled against this arrangement and established a table of their own. On Monday night last a colored student took a seat at this table, and a row ensued. Of course the colored boy got the worst of it, but the matter did not end here. After the meal there was a consultation, and the colored element met the white students outside. Knives and other weapons were drawn, and for a time there was every appearance of a race war. The Professors, however, interceded and quieted things for a time. But it is believed that the truce is only temporary, and that trouble of a very serious and alarming nature is brewing in the peaceful village of Berea. It is even alleged that some of the subordinate teachers are engaged in the rebellion. With some four hundred students in the College, more than half of whom are colored, there are reasons to apprehend something more than bluster and bravado, and reports yesterday indicated that matters were growing worse.

We have never been unfriendly to the education of the black race; on the contrary we warmly favor the scheme. But we are decidedly opposed to mixed white and black schools, and we think the time is at hand when our earnest, mistaken, Christian friends at Berea will discover that their effort to force the equality of the whites and blacks is a failure.

Two old Irishmen—Democrats, of course—had been commiserating together over the result of the National election. Finally, one, with a burst of optimism, exclaimed: "Sure, and it wasn't so much of a victory, after all!"

"No," said the other, still mournful; "but what a terrible defeat?"—Lowell Citizen.

REDUCING THE SURPLUS.
The disposition of the surplus in the U. S. Treasury engages the attention of our Statesmen, but a more vital question has our attention, and that is the reduction of the Surplus Consumptives. Since the discovery and introduction of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, there has been a marked decrease from this dread disease, and it is possible to still further reduce the number of Consumptives. How? By keeping constantly at hand a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and using according to directions, upon the appearance of the first symptoms, such as a Cough, a Cold, a Sore Throat, a Chest, or the pain. Taken thus early a cure is guaranteed. Trial bottles free at W. T. Evans'.

William Perkins, of Owenboro, Ky., is blind and ingenious. The result of his affliction and his genius is a writing machine for the blind, which the boy has just perfected. It is said that a San Francisco firm has paid him $5,000 for the right to manufacture and sell the machine in the United States.

Moving Southward.

[Baltimore Manufacturer's Record.] Southward the iron industry in all its branches steadily tends, and the Manufacturers' Record week after week, of the constant increase in new Southern enterprises to take the pig iron made in Southern furnaces and convert it into the finished product. The Advertiser of Boston forecasting the inevitable, that while manufacturing in general in New England is prosperous the outlook promising, there are one or two branches of trade the movements in which indicate marked changes as being either contemplated or occurring. These are the nail and stove making industries.

Last week a Connecticut nail manufacturer decided to remove his works to Alabama, enlarge them and to their producing capacity and increase his working force. The evident reason is that there he will have the positive advantages, and in these closely competing times the imperative ones as well, of being in the midst of an abundant supply of iron and cheap fuel which he cannot hope longer for in the present aspects of the iron industry.

Now comes the news that a representative stove works in this State has closed indefinitely, not only because of dullness, but also for the reason that it can no longer compete with manufacturers who get their iron at much better prices because of their nearness to the base of supplies. Further, it is said, that several New England stove manufacturing concerns are seriously considering removing to Alabama for the reasons stated.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.
Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co., Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it did not cure. If they would take it according to directions.

Yours Truly,
L. L. GORSUCH, M. D.,
Office, 215 Summit St.
We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

To Purify a Room.—Set a pitcher of water in the apartment and in a few hours it will have absorbed nearly all the respired gases in the room, the air of which will have become purer, but the water utterly filthy. The colder the water the greater the capacity to contain these gases. At the ordinary temperature a pint of water will absorb a pint of carbonic acid gas and several pints of ammonia. The capacity is nearly doubled by reducing the water to the temperature of ice. Hence, the water kept in a room for awhile is unfit for use.
